

Capabilities

Kathryn Grill Graphic Design is a small, woman-owned graphic design studio that excels in finding the right design solutions to fit your unique needs.

We specialize in finding innovative and impactful design solutions that will provide as much mileage and flexibility as possible in today's challenging economy and stretched budgets. We'll partner with you to support your efforts and help you meet your specific communications goals. We can effectively reach many different audiences — locally or nationally— because we have designed effective, intelligent communications for both (and all audiences in between). Our primary focus is design for printed materials, but we also are pleased to offer a full host of design services including design for signage, apparel graphics, trade shows and exhibits, outdoor advertising, web, and various multimedia.

Service.

What sets us apart is our ability as a small organization to work effectively with businesses of many diverse sizes and needs. We give top-rate service to every client, from non-profits run by one or two people, to large corporations run by multiple boards and committees. Our high level of professional integrity is one of the many virtues of small business ownership that we are proud to consistently provide.

Creativity.

We combine boutique agency creative, top-tier production skills, and time-tested industry prowess to create an award-winning design team ready to support you.

Technical expertise.

The stability of our files has been lauded by many of our production vendors, and we will supply you with the most organized, efficient and groomed production files possible. Expert-level production skills are not preferred at our studio—they are required. These high standards translate into smooth and successful production outcomes on press, and exceptional value for you, the client.

Ready when you are.

Kathryn Grill Graphic Design is a responsive, goal-driven studio that maintains the highest customer service practices you'll find anywhere. We believe a small studio that partners with like-minded design professionals all working to provide the very best graphic design, with the most responsive client support, for the least stress on your budget is a winning combination for all involved. It's worked great for our many clients that return over and over again.

As additional evidence of our personable and reliable service, we refer you to www.dnb.com to review our Dun & Bradstreet ratings. You will see that our exceedingly high rating has certified us as a 2008 Open Ratings Top 20% Performer as based on the Open Ratings Past Performance Survey. This is a rare distinction, resulting from highest-quality design and service.

We welcome your inquiry.

We are always seeking to expand who we serve. We love working with organizations that not only believe in what they do, but whole-heartedly live the values of their businesses. Because that's the kind of support you'll receive from us — complete, team-oriented support that will allow you to further-focus your goals and messaging through intelligent and relevant design solutions.
